→ When you pick a TREVISO, you are choosing quality that has been signed and sealed. GWINNER has been a member of the DEUTSCHE GÜTEGEMEINSCHAFT MÖBEL e.V. (German Furniture Quality Association, DGM) for over 40 years – strict quality conditions, applicable DIN standards and safety regulations all go without saying. Our furniture has been awarded the "Golden M" – the RAL mark of quality. Thanks to the RAL mark of quality, you can be certain that you are purchasing furniture of reliably high quality. Tested furniture must be stable, safe, long-lasting and well manufactured – and it must not contain any substances that could cause health problems. Tested quality, guaranteed safety and healthy living are based on the RAL-GZ 430 goods and test regulations. The emissions label, also developed by the DGM, gives buyers even more reassurance. It provides information on harmful emissions and classifies furniture in emissions classes to offer further protection against health problems. GWINNER also subjects its furniture to these tests. So far, all tested models have been classified in emissions class A – the best of the four possible classes. Emissions class A meets the requirements for threshold values as per RAL-GZ 430 and the Blue Angel requirements (RAL ZU 19 – derived timber products). Further information is available online: www.dgm-moebel.de

Furthermore, our dedication to quality can be seen throughout the production process: from choosing the right materials and processing them carefully, to the finished product. When manufacturing veneer leaves, we carefully select every tree trunk.

Our veneer experts are keen to demonstrate their many years of experience and craftsmanship when choosing and combining veneers. Our matt silk lacquered surfaces are manufactured using the latest environmentally friendly technology, are durable and meet the requirements for environmentally friendly and healthy living. Subject to errors, as well as design, colour and material modifications as part of technical progress.
